Dear Mr. Gearhart:

Ridgefield had been the place we would call home for 34 years. In 1973 we purchased an 1830 farmhouse with a vision for our family's future. It became more than a house; it was a home that stored a multitude of wonderful memories.

In late 2006 we made the very difficult decision to sell our home and move on. The reasons were many. Into this difficult time came a very special person, Ed Reynolds. Ed's help through the maze of getting all the details buttoned up, such as permits in place and physically helping us with repairs and suggestions on how to get our home ready, was something my wife and I would call heroic. He was a hero to my wife and I always keeping us on track even when the emotion of what we were doing was, at times, overwhelming.

If that was not enough when a house we thought we would purchase fell through, Ed found us a great rental within days. More recently, Ed was instrumental in helping us negotiate our next home. The new house is also a unique lake house and again Ed navigated us through all the mysteries to make this deal happen.

There are only a few people that you can say "Thank God" for and Ed is one of them to us. You have a very gifted, honest and dedicated individual working for you.

Sincerely,

John DePasquale
