RE.: ED REYNOLDS

I have known Ed Reynolds for nearly five years, and I am delighted to have the opportunity to write this testimonial.

As a Real Estate Agent (and I have known a great many) Ed Reynolds is a consummate professional. At every part of the process, his friendly manner, his perfect presentation, his attention to detail and his talent for anticipating the needs of his clients are evident.

For instance, when acting for me in a prospective purchase, when issues were raised as to property lines and a septic system, before I'd even thought of asking, he himself went round to the town offices to ferret out the plans, and would not rest until he was satisfied that he fully understood the complex facts of the case. In his quiet way, this is a man of massive persistency, who will not rest until he has explored every possibility.

Indeed, he will go far beyond the call of duty. I had just bought a townhouse in Ridgefield, had not yet moved in, and was traveling in Europe. Going by the property to check on something, Ed discovered a water leak. The next thing I knew, I got a call to let me know that he had identified the source of the leak - the next door neighbor - helped her cure it, and had my place cleaned up.

Ed Reynolds is a professional, who knows exactly what he is doing. But these acts come from the genuine kindness of a man of high ethics and absolute integrity. Once you become his client, you are given access to a valuable support network of contacts, expertise and advice. And once you have dealt with Ed Reynolds, you wouldn't think of dealing with anyone else.

Very Truly Yours,

Francis Wintle
